Hixburg

Hixburg (Unavoidably omitted last issue) - A social hour at the churches is becoming popular.

On Thursday evening at Olive Branch Methodist Church, a deputation team of the Wesley Foundation of Longwood College, conducted the devotional and showed pictures of the work the Wesley Foundation is doing in colleges.

Ladies of the Missionary Society, who had the program put on, held a social hour immediately following the pictures.

Coffee, sandwiches and cookies were served by Mrs. Rob Martin, president, who was assisted by Mrs. Henry Moore and Mrs. Edwin Fore.

Mrs. Patrick Lair was hostess in her home to the St. Ann's Guild of St. Ann's Episcopal Church at Appomattox on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. F. M. Alley, Mrs. Lair's mother, a new-comer to this area, is the newly elected president. Mrs. Alley has had ten years' experience in this kind of work.

Mrs. Lair served home - made orange cake, cinnamon buns and coffee.

Miss Maggie Hix had been confined to her four walls for a month. Now, she is better, and she shuffles along with her walker to the cook-room.

Her mind is clear, and she takes a keen interest in what goes on at home and abroad.

Again, Mr. Sears Hix, Thomasville, N. C. will be the house guest of Miss Hix from Tuesday until Friday.

Expected by Mr. and Mrs. Ed McPhillips as Thanksgiving guests are Mr. and Mrs. Watkins McPhillips and family, of Richmond.

Mrs. Logan Ligon has accepted a position as Nurse's Aid at Stuart Circle Hospital in Richmond, and likes the work.

Mrs. Lillian Cary, her sister, who moved to the Presbyterian Home for Ladies in Richmond, is pleased with her surroundings, and the good food served there.

Mr. DeWitt Goin is in with a virus infection.

Leo Glenn was able to attend preaching Sunday evening, after a bout of three weeks of flu.
